I'm a designer who asks questions first and designs second. I design digital products from the first user interview to the final pixel, and help teams and brands turn what people really need into interfaces that are easy to use and look good.

Skills

UX research and design

I find out what people really need. Interviews, testing and, out of them, a clear product structure.

UI design

I design interfaces for web, mobile and apps. Clean, clear and ready to go straight into development.

Visual identity and graphic design

From the logo to colours, type and print. A brand that holds together on screen and in your hands.

Motion, photo and video

I'm not afraid to do some light animation, photography and video editing.

Presenting

I've presented many projects, including to representatives of Havas Prague, Český tenis, Yellowshapes and the publishers Albi and Dino. I can explain clearly why a solution is the way it is.
